

Dear Subscribers,

Happy New Year to you all in 1983. It certainly has been a good January weather-wise, and that's always a nice way to start the year!

The B.C. stallion owners are away ahead of everyone else, with nine horses already listed in the March-April Stallion Issue, out of a total of twenty. The deadline for getting your stallion in is March 21. Let's make this Stallion Issue the the most complete one yet.

There are lots of ads and news so I'd better get cracking. My thanks to all of you who keep the newsletter going by sending along your news, views and ads. And speaking of ads, they will be more important than ever with another postal increase upon us. So keep on writing and keep advertising!

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Why do so many people, who get into the breed with so much enthusiasm, sell out and 'disappear' within a few short years? Perhaps it is common in all breeds to some extent, but it seems to happen over and over amongst Walking Horse owners. WHY? Do you have any ideas? I think it might be partly that Tennessee Walkers have a reputation for being easy to ride and easy to handle - and generally speaking they are just that. And so naturally they attract the novice horseman. After riding one, how can you resist! But they are still horses and it does take some basic knowledge to handle horses, feed and care for them. Also a certain amount of dedication to feed, water, clean out after and groom, day in and day out, whether you ride or not. And secondly, in spite of all that we wish were true about Walkers being naturally gaited from birth, they are still a little trickier to train than your average walk - trot horse. You have to know more about how the horse is actually moving, and you have to train it hold its gait. It's something like learning to drive a truck that has more gears! And when a person buys a horse for its smooth flowing gait and then finds that he isn't getting that glide ride, well - who can blame him for being discouraged? Here's what Elna Konkin, Edgewater, has to say:

"I'd like to give you my opinion on the one question you asked - why people who enthusiastically get into Walkers get out after 2 or 3 years. Maybe it is because somewhere along the line they had a chance to ride one and just being an individual who has enjoyed many an hour in the saddle just enjoying God's creation and the company of a horse and a dog and maybe running a few cattle (as I have) decide that owning one of 'those' would make things just that much more enjoyable. Right? Then - you find your horse is breaking gait - like I mean all sorts of strange things are going on down there from time to time and most of it is not that great to set, but, never having had a lesson (don't know if that would help) and having no previous knowledge of Walkers to draw on, you don't know what's going on or why. So, you ask someone who has Walkers and is showing and doing their own schooling and they are no help! (Whether they don't know or choose not to help you.) And so you soon lose that enthusiasm for Walkers, especially when you can go out and call that fat little grey, jump on and she'll go single-footing off down the road just as neat as you please. I'd love to be riding that Walker mare - she's a whole lot classier to look at, a couple of hands taller and, damn it, I bought and paid for her to ride her. Sure I think it would help if I took riding lessons from a pro but I don't want to ride around and around in a circle. There have been some clinics in Edmonton & Calgary that may well have been some help but I couldn't get to them. I do have a book here - The Care & Training of the Tennessee Walking Horse by Joe Webb - very interesting reading but not much help. Anyhow now I think there have to be some secrets - from me at least - with regards to clues that will help keep these horses going in that beautiful natural gait (and I'm not sure what that gait is either, as it's not always the same to look at with the three we have on the place now). So I think confusion accounts for the loss of enthusiasm, and as well the reluctance of an obviously knowledgeable person to share what they have learned because they don't want competition. I don't expect most people are like that but with the sparseness of Walkers in these parts you have to put on a lot of miles to find the right people. Any tips from readers would sure be appreciated as I don't give up easily!"

Thanks, Elna, for your frank comments. I'm sure nearly all of us have felt similarly frustrated at times. I have rationalized that if a Walker is good looking and has a nice disposition, you still have as much as you can expect from any other breed - and if it does an easy saddle gait without special training or shoeing, that's the icing on the cake. But that's not a solution to the problem. Is there one? What do you think?

BRITISH COLUMBIA NEWS

Leta KELLY, PRITCHARD, wrote to say she had gotten 'Silver's' papers back safely and was pleased to see his colour listed as Yellow, not palomino. The colt is doing well and has a protector in Leta's old saddle mare, "who seems to think she is his mother!" Leta goes on to say, "I sold my pretty little sorrel mare to Mrs. Turner of Salmon Arm. A lovely mare but too small for me. And Lorain (VanderVeen) bought one of my Arabs. She hauled her horse out about a month ago and we went for a nice ride and got some of the range horses in for friends. There were 7 huge Belgians in the bunch and did they ever look funny thundering along with all the Arabs and saddle horses. It has been cold here and the snow was above my horse's knees when I rode the other day."

ELNA KONKIN, EDGEWATER, sent me a photo Alfred Tegart and her riding their Walkers in the Radium Days Parade last spring. They looked pretty sharp! Alfred has ridden his stallion, Go Shadow Shaker Go, in many parades and most people never even realize Shadow is a stallion as he's so well behaved. Elna writes, "A brief update on what's new here. I purchased a very striking mare last spring, Roan Allen's Lady K. #671585. She is now in foal to Go Shadow Shaker Go. Sure would be nice to get a blue roan! At the same time Alfred bought Lady K.'s daughter, Tuya Dawn #796972, by Red Eagle Mack K. We are really eagerly awaiting the arrival of our first reg. Walker baby. We are very pleased with the half-Walker foals the past two years and are eager to see this spring's crop from Shadow - no Walker mares but almost everything else: Appys, QHs, TBs, Arabs & Standardbreds. It sure will be interesting to see what people think of our half-Walkers in a few years. Roy Robinson in Golden has a 2 year old purebred gelding that is one up-standing looking horse, also a full sister (weanling) and says he will have two reg. mares down for service in the spring. Anyone coming by this way is most welcome to come see our horses and have coffee with us. We are on the right side of Hi-Way 95, ten km north of Radium Hot Springs, right at Hewitt Rd. crossroads."

From MARJORIE FABRO, KIMBERLEY, "We are feeding 14 horses this winter so it's quite time consuming. I have two beautiful black weanling colts from our stallion, Sound of Invasion. They are naturally gaited with a great little head nod and beautiful dispositions. I'm really pleased with our stud's offspring. Our young stallion, Canadian Blue Boogie, by Canadian Threat out of Canadian Firefly, is growing into a beautiful horse. He will be two in June and is already 15:3 hh. He's jet black, no white on him at all. I've sold my chestnut yearling so the only ones I'll have for sale will be the two weanlings and maybe Cdn Blue Boogie come spring."

CINDY BOTKIN, QUESNEL, sent me a newspaper clipping which tells how she raised High Price Duke, a TWH colt that was orphaned at two days old. His mother, Merry Tamara, became ill with infection and despite all they could do for her, died. So Cindy set about trying to hand raise the little fellow on a bottle. She has been successful and Duke is now about six months old, a bit small for his age but healthy and usually seen doing the running walk! It was a very nice article, and Cindy put in some good 'Propaganda' for the Tennessee Walker. Certainly sorry about your mare, Cindy.

Mike Malmberg, FORT STEELE, wrote, "We bought a Walker through a contact from Marj Fabro. We had tough luck with the gelding though - he died over the Christmas holidays (some grain contaminated with Rumensin.) So we are again looking for a horse. We certainly enjoyed the horse while we had him - that gaited walk is a thrill to ride!"

Had a note from GEORGE KEILLOR, VANDERHOOF, with an ad for his stallion Shadow's North Sage. He says, "Keep up the good work on our Walkers as we think they are great. Only there sure aren't many up our way yet!"

BRITISH COLUMBIA NEWS continued

JUDY ROGALSKY, ALDERGROVE, writes, "Finally have time to let you know of the goings-on at Rogue Hill Farm. This has been the most exciting fall yet! On Oct. 16 Wally & I purchased Betty & Keith Wright's TWH stallion, Polo S.C. The Wrights had decided to retire and do a little travelling around and after a heartbreaking decision decided Polo didn't fit into their plans. Polo was offered to us as they knew how much we loved him and admired his ability to throw large, pacy foals."

"We are keeping Polo at a large thoroughbred training center near here as he is learning to be a riding horse (much to his horror!) as well as a well-mannered playboy, and we don't have an indoor arena for working this time of year. He's doing great. Even had him out on the track ponying with a few fillies. He thought he'd died and gone to heaven!"

"Then on Nov. 19 we took our Magic Bum colt down to Elma, Wash. to begin his training for the Spring shows. I have such high hopes for Magic and hope I'm not disappointed, as even the most well-bred colts don't always make the grade. But Bob Smith, our trainer, says Magic certainly has the breeding and most important, his attitude is good, so I'm very optimistic!"

"Got a letter from Cindy Botkin earlier on and found that she has a mare from our old mare, Velvet Harris Allen. Hard to think that Velvet has a baby ten years old running around, and she's still having them like clockwork. Hope to be able to meet Cindy some day soon." Judy's letter will be continued in a future issue.

PEACE RIVER AREA NEWS by Jo-Anne McDonald

"Don is back now from a very enjoyable holiday in Tennessee. He met with the Directors in charge of the Pleasure Horse Division. They are trying to put together a video on training the plain shod Walking Horse. Hopefully this will materialize and then the vid o will be available to the public."

"Kirk Coburn of Prince George accompanied Don and they sure toured. They saw Pride's Secret Threat - 1982 World Grand Champion, and Shaker's Professor - 1981-82 Reserve World Grand Champion. What a pair of gorgeous horses! Shaker's Professor happens to be a full brother to our own Handshaker Candy S.. The people at Wiser Farm found it hard to believe that we had this valuable mare up here in the north country."

"Don & Kirk also visited with Mack Motes and Sis Wolaver, the two TWHBEA representatives who conducted our own Peace River Walking Horse Clinic in 1980."

"Unfortunately we are losing the Guidry family in the spring. They are moving to Chad, Africa. Laraine has taken a teaching position there. We will surely miss them all. They will be selling everything at a public auction on Feb. 5/83. All the Walking Horse people of the area want to wish them every success in their new venture."

"Bob & Terry Craigdallie have sold Ray's Highland Echo (Laddie's Monte Ray x Parading Majesty), a 3 year old Tenn. Walker mare, to John Cannon of Millet, Alta."

"Don & I have purchased Dancer's Sun Dance from Mr. Litchfield of Grovedale, Alta. She is a granddaughter of Merry Boy's F88, and is in foal to Beauty's Trails End for '83. We now should have six foals in the spring!"

MANITOBA NEWS

DARLENE HARDER, BOISSEVAIN, suggests that a short story from each of you describing how you got into Walkers, when and why, how many horses you began with and how many you presently have, as well as what you'd like to see happen to the Walking Horse in Western Canada, would make very interesting reading. It would be along the lines of 'How We Got Started With Walkers' that Rose Davies initiated in the YWHA Horses All column a couple of years ago. Well - How about it, Readers?

ALBERTA NEWS

From MAVIS & WALT GLOVER, LETHBRIDGE, "Many thanks for the welcome newsletter. We don't have anything exciting to report from our end of the world; just the usual working routine. The two colts we have from last year don't intend getting cold - they look like two fuzzy bears playing around. The little black stud colt looks like a miniature 'Blue', and all the rest of them are fat and sassy."

"We had a nice visit with the Ivan Towriss family of Biggar last year. It was the first time we'd been to Saskatchewan and they made us feel very welcome. Ivan has a real nice TWH pony stallion and his colts were so cute it made you want to put them in the car and bring them home. He added our 'Mindy Jo' to his herd so with her bloodlines (Her grandfather is Sun's Merry Man and great grandfather Reyclif Mid Merry) I'd like to see the results.

"The weather has been windy and warmer and it gets you to thinking of this year's babies, doesn't it? Kind of makes you wish you could have a peep to see what colour they are!" And whether they are fillies or colts!

We had a card from JOHN & WENDY JOHNSEN, SPRUCEVIEW, who bought a TWH gelding from us a couple of years ago. They say, "We are all doing fine here including 'Red'. But we have a hard time keeping him slim - wish we had more time to ride. His running walk is very enjoyable."

DONNA HENRY, GLEICHEN, writes, "We have had a very nice year and I'd best let you in on it. Noem purchased his first filly from Staleys. This one has almost the same bloodlines as Fancy; the dam is a Secret Venture mare & the sire is Thunder's War Eagle. So hopefully we have another show horse or at least the breeding stock for the future. Staleys treated us royally when we were down there twice this year. Nora and I attended a 3 day show in Gig Harbor, Wash. while down there. Fancy is going for training the first of Feb. Am looking forward to showing her at the Futurity in Oregon and our new one at the Futurity here."

"Pal has come a great way this year. He has been gelded and was used out on two different hunting trips. For as small as this 3 year old is he is all heart. He worked superbly in the bush and mountains and put older horses to shame. Raven, our black yearling, is fat and happy and so is Shadow. Shadow had the good fortune to have six mares come to his court last year. We have our pasture area and corrals set up for bringing in mares now. Hopefully this new year we'll get our barn and a paddock for Fancy and a mare and foal paddock."

From CLAUDIA HACK'S Sept. letter, "As we wind up our season we can allow ourselves to indulge in some evaluation of our experiences. Have we reached our goal? This is a difficult assessment to make. As we travelled from show to show with the Walking Horse emblazoned on T-shirts and hats, our family attempted to be good ambassadors for our breed. Only time will tell. However, several comments made directly to us or overheard in stands indicate that in our own small way there are now more people aware of the Walker. Overheard at our last Open Show were comments made by parents of a gal we showed with at Kimberley, where Kristin & Shadow won the High Point Youth Trophy, at Pincher Creek, and at this show at Okotoks: The mom, "There are those Walkers again." The dad, "Oh yes. They sure look interesting to ride." The mom, "Sure seems smooth. Look, her shoulders aren't moving ... Not a trot though." The dad, "I'd love to try one of those!" There were dozens of similar experiences which are not new to any of us involved with this breed. We've learned a lot this year and we can assure all the many others who have been promoting the Walker in this manner for many more years than we have, that we can appreciate all they've gone through."

Had a nice note from ELSIE MACKAY, MANNVILLE, who says, "I really enjoy the newsletter. As a new owner of Walkers it's really nice to know more about them and where other owners are. Keep up the good work." Thanks, Elsie.

SASKATCHEWAN NEWS

From LEXIE COLE, CABRI, "Have sold a few horses again this fall. Sold an eight year old bay mare to Roxane MacRobbie of Dinsmore. Roxane is 11 and this is her first horse. They're getting along great with her. Have also sold a couple of Quarter Horses. There appears to be a lot of interest in Walking Horses. When I advertised last fall I got around 20 calls (no kidding I really did!). I was really surprised as I didn't expect response like that. Out of the 20 callers, about half were seriously interested, asked lots of questions about Walkers. I took names down and tried to give them names of others who might have Walkers available; also sent them pamphlets and info. It really gave me a boost as I was sort of feeling that the barrier could never be broken. I would like to get one of my horses on the show circuit competing against other breeds but at the moment have nothing to show. I feel it does more harm than good to take a horse out before it is ready. Jeanette, my daughter, has a 5 year old gelding she has been riding and showing in 4-H and small shows. She has him coming along quite well and in the final show of the year placed 7th out of 22 in a pleasure class. Some people might not be happy with 7th place but for us it was great - a real breakthrough! Haven't ridden or handled horses all fall as I got kicked the first part of Sept. and was in hospital over a week with 3 broken ribs and internal bleeding. It really knocked the wind out of my sails!" We are glad to hear that you are feeling back to normal now, Lexie.

Another of our Saskatchewan people had some bad luck. JEAN RITCHEY of NEILBURG writes, "At the moment I'm chief chore boy here. Stan had an emergency operation on Dec. 4 for a perforated appendix. He came home on the 9th and had the stitches out on the 13th. I think he's doing great but he doesn't. He can't haul grain or do chores yet! The doctor told him to do absolutely nothing for three months. Short of hog-tying and a straitjacket, that seems impossible!"

"The little part-Walker of Middletons that Stan had here to work with sure has the gait and she's such a gentle, willing little thing. Stan had Connie riding her all alone. She's our six year old granddaughter, horse-crazy but knows nothing about riding." Take it easy, Stan, and hope you're feeling 100% soon.

IRVIN KIEHN, JANSEN, sent along several newspaper clippings showing Go Boy Nodder and his owner. He writes, "Hello! Your writing of Leta Kelly brought back lots of memories. In 1960 I sold Go Boy Nodder to Leta and she later sold him to Norma Clements of Prince George. Norma showed him and won many prizes; we kept in touch. It gave me great satisfaction to know that a horse I raised and trained did so well in the show ring. Leta liked Nodder so well she came back in the summer of '60 and bought three more horses from me."

UNITED STATES NEWS

Good luck to Roger Hand who has opened a training stable at Shelbyville, Tenn.

Welcome to new subscribers, Russ & Barb DeVore, Polson, Montana, who say, "We have several pleasure classes here and welcome any of your members down to help show this Magnificent breed! In fact, the InterMountain High Point Trophy is for Plantation pleasure horses."

JOHN GARDNER, MADISON, Miss. says the 3 '82 foals he took back to Miss. from Sask. came through in good shape. They hauled them in the front end of a stock trailer, kept water & feed in front of them & never unloaded 'til they got home. The colts would lie down & rest just like dogs.
